Anyone wishing to review or to obtain general understanding of a subject could request enrollment in a class as an auditing student. As an auditor, you may attend classes, receive a grade of audit (AU), and are not required to take examinations. Audited classes are not considered part of a credit load and cannot be used to satisfy prerequisites or graduation requirements or applied toward financial aid benefits.

Students may audit most levels of classes (Associate Degree, Technical Diploma, or Vocational) at the College. Exceptions include: Community Service (600 level) and designated open-entry, self-paced or online classes which include codes Online (NET), or Self Paced (SP).

The College reserves the right to determine certain classes as inappropriate for audit and/or limit the number of auditing students per class.
